ORDER - 1

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON AT TACOMA

DANIEL C. CARTER,

Plaintiff,

No. C11-5626 RJB/KLS

v.

WASHINGTON DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS, ELDON VAIL, RONALD FRAKER, BRENT CARNEY, JAY A. JACKSON, and JAMIE CALLEY, ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO APPOINT COUNSEL

Defendants.

This civil rights action has been referred to United States Magistrate Judge Karen L. Strombom pursuant to Title 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1) and Local MJR 3 and 4. Before the Court is Plaintiff's motion for the appointment of counsel. ECF No. 10. Having carefully reviewed Plaintiff's motion, and balance of the record, the Court finds, for the reasons stated below, that Plaintiff's motion should be denied.

DISCUSSION

No constitutional right exists to appointed counsel in a § 1983 action. Storseth v. Spellman, 654 F.2d 1349, 1353 (9th Cir. 1981). See also United States v. $292,888.04 in U.S. Currency, 54 F.3d 564, 569 (9th Cir. 1995) ("[a]ppointment of counsel under this section is discretionary, not mandatory.") However, in "exceptional circumstances," a district court may appoint counsel for indigent civil litigants pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(1) (formerly 28 U.S.C.§ 1915(d)). Rand v. Roland, 113 F.3d 1520, 1525 (9th Cir. 1997), overruled on other grounds, 154 F.3d 952 (9th Cir. 1998) (emphasis supplied.) To decide whether exceptional circumstances exist, the court must evaluate both "the likelihood of success on the merits [and] the ability of the petitioner to articulate his claims pro se in light of the complexity of the legal issues involved." Wilborn v. Escalderon, 789 F.2d 1328, 1331 (9th Cir. 1986) (quoting Weygandt v. Look, 718 F.2d 952, 954 (9th Cir. 1983)). A plaintiff must plead facts that show he has an insufficient grasp of his case or the legal issue involved and an inadequate ability to articulate the factual basis of his claim. Agyeman v. Corrections Corp. of America, 390 F.3d 1101, 1103 (9th Cir. 2004).

That a pro se litigant may be better served with the assistance of counsel is not the test. Rand, 113 F.3d at 1525. Moreover, the need for discovery does not necessarily qualify the issues involved as "complex." Wilborn, 789 F.2d at 1331. Most actions require development of further facts during litigation. But, if all that was required to establish the complexity of the relevant issues was a demonstration of the need for development of further facts, then practically all cases would involve complex legal issues. Id.

Plaintiff states that he requires the appointment of counsel because he cannot afford counsel, his imprisonment will greatly limit his ability to litigate, this is a complex case, and counsel will be better able to present evidence and cross-examine witnesses. ECF No. 7. Plaintiff filed his complaint pro se and has demonstrated an adequate ability to articulate his claims pro se. Plaintiff claims that employees of the DOC and Clallam Bay Corrections Center violated his rights when they implemented and enforced food restrictions which included no hot meals and one daily box menu during the Ramadan fast. This case does not involve complex facts or law.

The Court finds no exceptional circumstances in this case. While Plaintiff may not have vast resources or legal training, he meets the threshold for a pro se litigant. Concerns regarding investigation and discovery are also not exceptional factors, but are the type of difficulties encountered by many pro se litigants. There are also numerous avenues of discovery available to the parties through the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure during the litigation process.

Moreover, Plaintiff has not shown a likelihood of success on the merits.

Accordingly, Plaintiff's motion to appoint counsel (ECF No. 10) is DENIED. The Clerk is directed to send copies of this Order to Plaintiff.

DATED this 12th day of September, 2011.

Karen L. Strombom
